Are the Accounts in the Trade Master Cup Swap-Free?

Updated this week

All accounts in the Trade Master Cup are entirely Swap-Free. This means traders will not incur any swap or rollover fees on their positions, making the competition accessible and inclusive for participants from all trading backgrounds, including those who prefer to avoid interest-based transactions.

Whether you're a beginner or an experienced trader, the Swap-Free structure ensures a level playing field for everyone. It allows participants to focus entirely on their trading strategies and skills without worrying about additional costs, fostering a fair and competitive environment.
