If I breach my Competition account, will there be any resets?

Updated over 2 weeks ago

Unfortunately, resets are not available during the FundedNext Trading Competition. The competition runs continuously throughout the entire month without any scheduled resets. This means that a trader's trading progress, account balance, and performance will accumulate over the course of the competition without any interruptions.

However, it's important to note that certain daily calculations, such as the Daily Loss Limit, will be reset at 00:00 GMT+2. These calculations help determine the Daily Loss Limit and overall performance, but they do not reset your trading progress or account balance.

Stay focused, make informed trading decisions, and aim for consistent growth and success as you compete in the FundedNext Trading Competition.
