How many days will I get to complete the Challenge Phase of the Express?

Updated over 2 weeks ago

In the Express Challenge, there's no time restriction, granting traders the flexibility to take as much time as they need to complete the Challenge. However, it's crucial to maintain a minimum of 10 trading days in each Trading Cycle.

To meet this requirement, traders need to execute at least 10 individual and separate trades each month. This means entering a new trade on at least 10 separate days within a month. Trading days do not need to be consecutive.

It's important to adhere to the minimum trading day requirement as failing to meet it will result in not receiving any profits at the end of the Trading Cycle, leading to an account breach. Additionally, only executed trades contribute to the count of trading days.
