Can I trade on TradingView and link my FundedNext account?

Updated over 2 weeks ago

FundedNext has launched the TradingView, aiming to elevate traders' trading experience!

TradingView is a platform that can be utilized for conducting analysis and market research. To execute trades on our platform, users are required to utilize the most common trading platform, MT5.

MT5 offers comprehensive functionalities for placing trades, managing positions, and monitoring market activity. This platform is specifically designed to facilitate efficient and reliable trade execution, providing traders with access to real-time market data, order placement capabilities, and advanced trading tools.

 Note: Due to an overwhelmingly positive response and increased activity, FundedNext is currently experiencing load balancing issues and has temporarily paused the feature to optimize the systems. We are actively working to enhance performance and appreciate our traders' patience during this time. FundedNext will return with an improved TradingView experience soon. Thank you for your understanding!
