How can I make a payment through cryptocurrency?

Updated over 2 weeks ago

FundedNext offers payment options with a wide selection of 30 different cryptocurrencies on our platform. Some of the most popular choices include:

- Binance Coin
- Bitcoin (BTC)
- Dogecoin
- Ethereum (ETH)
- Tron (TRX)
- Tether (USDT)
- Litecoin (LTC)

> Please be aware that we do not accept specific cryptocurrencies such as Ripple (XRP), Stellar (XLM), Cardano (ADA), and Polygon (MATIC).

When making a payment on FundedNext, it's of utmost importance to ensure the exactness of the transaction amount, especially in relation to the challenge account size you intend to purchase.

For example, if you aim to acquire the Stellar 2-Step $200K challenge account, which comes with a 3% commission, the total price stands at 1028.97 USDT. To facilitate a seamless transaction, it's imperative that you remit precisely this amount. Any deviation, be it an overpayment or underpayment, can disrupt the automatic account allocation process.

When initiating a payment, it is imperative to select the appropriate network to ensure a successful transaction. Take care to choose the network corresponding to your chosen cryptocurrency. For instance, if you are using Ethereum (ETH), ensure that you have selected the Ethereum network.

If you choose the incorrect network for your cryptocurrency payment, we cannot be held responsible for any lost funds. It's essential to double-check and confirm that you've selected the right network before proceeding with the payment.

In cases where your payment exceeds the estimated processing time, we kindly ask for your patience. Cryptocurrency transactions may occasionally experience delays due to network congestion. If you have concerns, you can verify the transaction status using a blockchain explorer or reach out to our support team for assistance.
